

CALL FOR PAPERS

The Carleton University Sociology & Anthropology Graduate Student Caucus presents:

Friction at the Margins Emerging Perspectives and Methods

April 6 – April 7, 2018
Dunton Tower – Room 2017 – Carleton University

The Sociology & Anthropology Graduate Student Caucus (SAGSC) Conference Committee at Carleton University welcomes submissions to its 6th annual graduate student conference. The committee aims to provide an intellectual platform where graduate students across disciplines may share their unique empirical research and theoretical insights.

Submissions from a wide range of disciplines and perspectives are encouraged. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Quantitative, Mixed and Qualitative Methods
- Structural, Conflict, Interactionist Perspectives
- Critical, Postmodern & Feminist Perspectives
- Sociology, Anthropology & Psychology
- Law, Criminology & Socio-Legal Studies
- Political Science, Geography & Urban Studies
- Postcolonial, Race, Gender & Queer Studies
- The Criminal Justice System, Violence & Surveillance
- Sexuality, Family, Health, Care, Death & Dying
- Education, Arts, Work, Food & Consumerism
- Citizenship, Immigration & Globalization
- Homelessness, Poverty & Addiction
- Political Activism, Institutions & Policy
- Social Justice and Community-Engagement

Submission Deadline for Abstracts: February 5, 2018

Paper presentations are to be fifteen minutes in length, followed by a discussion period.

Please submit a 200-word abstract, a brief author biography (100 words maximum), and contact information in a Microsoft Word document to sagsc.conference@gmail.com.

Presenters will be notified of their acceptance by February 19, 2018.

Conference Food and Beverages
Open-Mic Creative Performance Post Conference Social Disability Accommodations Available
Inquire for more details

Sincerely,

SAGSC Conference Committee, Carleton University

Derek Cooper, Matthew Sanscartier, Rhys Steckle, Sarah Fiander, Emma Bider, Rebecca Nokleby, Vanessa Million, Nadine Powell, Matthew Johnston, Abigail Curlew, Mark Ramsay, Sheridan Conty and Stacey Cook