4.06 LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Duration and Timing of Leave of Absence

Normally, on the recommendation of the Graduate Program, a leave of absence is granted to a maximum of three terms or 12 months. To take into account the leave of absence period, the date for degree completion and funding of the degree program will be extended by the duration of the time taken on leave, i.e. one, two or three terms, as appropriate.

Normally, the leave will coincide with the start and end of terms; however, the start and finish of a leave of absence may begin or end at any point in the term. Students who begin a leave mid-term are advised to consult with their graduate program to make arrangements, especially if taking courses during this period. It is also advisable to consult with the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies.

Graduate Student and Supervisor Expectations

Students who are on a leave of absence are not recognized as active students and therefore are not covered by University liability insurances. They are expected to be away from normal graduate student activities, including research, writing, coursework, lab work and studying. Moreover, because of liability issues, students do not have approval to partake in various activities while on leave, for example, data collection, conferences, and any other University sponsored event.

Neither supervision nor student progress is expected while a student is on a leave of absence. If both student and supervisor are willing, ongoing communication may be negotiated. Students may not submit their thesis while on a leave of absence.

Applying for a Leave of Absence

Students may apply for a leave of absence by completing an online request via the Graduate Student Web Services Portal. The request is then reviewed by the Graduate Program. If approved by the Program, it is reviewed by the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies for final approval.

While on leave, students will not be required to pay tuition and ancillary fees because they are not actively registered with the University.

Financial Support

At Western, supporting our student researchers is a top priority. By offering financial packages to help offset the expenses associated with full-time graduate study, WE HELP our full-time students in PhD programs and in many research-based Master's programs to devote more time TO FOCUS ON THEIR STUDIES AND RESEARCH. Based on recommendations by the admitting graduate program, students in research-based programs are offered COMPETITIVE financial support packages.

5.01 FUNDING FOR STUDENTS IN RESEARCH-BASED PROGRAMS

The School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies distinguishes between research-based programs and professionally-oriented programs to determine eligibility for student support.

Eligible students in the Doctor of Musical Arts in Performance program (DMA), all PhD programs and some research-based Master's programs will be offered a financial support package which may include funds from the Faculty or graduate program, such as internal or external scholarship support, research assistantships, or employment teaching assistantships.

5.02 ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS AND ELIGIBILITY FOR FINANCIAL SUPPORT

To be eligible for financial support a student must continue to be registered full-time and must continue to meet the minimum academic requirements of the graduate program and progress satisfactorily towards the timely completion of the degree.

5.03 PROGRAM DURATION AND ELIGIBILITY FOR FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Students in funding-eligible programs receive financial support for the normal duration of their program. Note that there are three terms in one year:

- The normal duration for Master's programs varies from two terms (2/3 year) to six terms (2 years), depending on the program. Consult the program's regulations for details.
- The normal duration for Doctoral programs is twelve terms (4 YEARS).
- Students who transfer from a Master's program to a Doctoral program are eligible for financial support FOR for fifteen consecutive full-time terms of registration, i.e. 5 years. This includes both programs.
- Students who enter the Doctoral program directly from the Bachelor's are eligible for financial support for up to fifteen terms of full-time registration (5 years).
- During their fundable period-of fundability, graduate students are strongly encouraged to apply for external awards for which they are eligible, such as, federal Tri-Agency (NSERC, SSHRC, CIHR) and Ontario government awards (OGS, QEIGSST).

5.04 A MINIMUM ANNUAL FINANCIAL PACKAGE FOR DOCTORAL STUDENTS

Incoming Doctoral students and continuing Doctoral students who meet the usual eligibility criteria (see Sections 5.02 and 5.03 above), must be offered an annual financial package (i.e., three terms commencing with the initial term of admission) of at least the annual cost of full-time tuition (Office of the Registrar - Fees & Refunds) plus $13,000+, with the following caveats:

- The financial support package can come from a variety of sources and can differ from student to student. The sources include: supervisor research grant support (e.g. GRA); external scholarships and fellowships from the federal Tri-Agency (CIHR, NSERC, SSHRC) and from the Province of Ontario (OGS, OTS, QEIGSST); Graduate Teaching Assistantships (GTA); internal support (e.g. WGRS, awards from donations and endowments); and employment other than GTA. The support package can change, for example when a student receives an external scholarship, or in response to a student's change in residency; such as, becoming a permanent resident under the Immigration Act of Canada.
- OSAP is excluded in the calculation of the financial package.
- The student may decline all or part of the funding package. Where the student declines all or part of the package, the program must submit a written statement to SGPS, signed by the student and grad chair/director, waiving the graduate program's responsibility to provide the declined funding during the student's program.

Commented [LD1]: Matt, can you please add this to the annual funding letter?

5.06 COMPLETION OF THE STUDENT'S PROGRAM

When a student completes the program or withdraws without completing while receiving financial support, the support may be subject to repayment or pro-rating for the remainder of the term. It is important for a student to consult with the graduate program and/or the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies for details.
